BIOHAZARD® 3

In the outskirts of Raccoon City, located in the Mid-western United States, bizarre murder cases have recently occurred.
The special police unit S.T.A.R.S was ordered to investigate the area.
LAST ESCAPE
But what they found was beyond their wildest nightmares, a threat S.T.A.R.S has never faced before.

But nobody would have wanted to be in this situation.
As a member of S.T.A.R.S dealing with incidents is a routine mission.
What they found was pure terror...
Some of us didn't survive.
In that place, death came so easily
AM
Though I did.
I fought with everything I had to survive.

If there's more of those creatures...
Every single one of them.
...I will hunt them down and destroy them.

High above Raccoon City military choppers deploy armed men.
This isn't the Army, but a highly trained mercanary group that fights only for money.
From the symbol on their arm, you can tell that they are Umbrella Biohazard Countermeasure Service (UBCS).
They're on a rescue mission...

I've got a bad feeling about this one, will we even survive?
I'm unsure about this one, I wonder if I'll see my wife again.

For now, Carlos has to survive.
And find a way back to the surface.
Though...Jeff should be proud that he could at least save someone.
But he couldn't even save himself.

But how could this happen, with so much fire-power was victory not assured.
And when the battle was over, the last hope Raccoon City had, was lost.

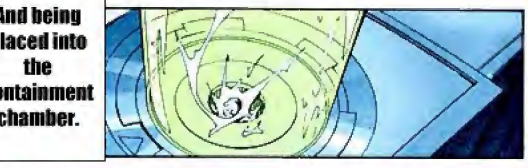
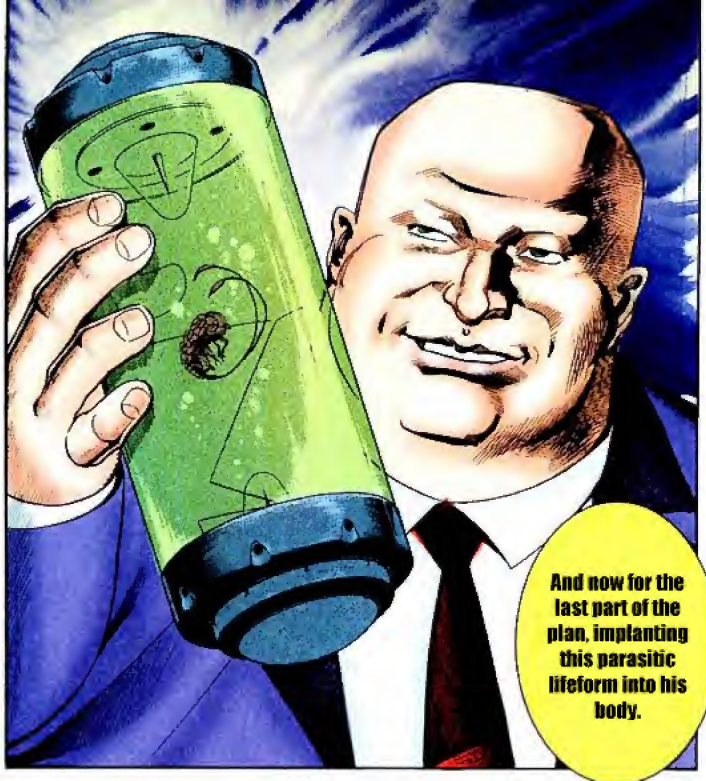
As the experiment got underway, the test subject experienced excruciating pain.
It contained a report on the subjects life.
One look at the photo of his loved ones and all his memories came rushing back to him.
Extremely high voltage is shot throughout his body, this would kill a normal human being but he is far from it.
XET
I've got to do this, before he comes to his senses!

It has begun

The water is being drained from the smaller tube.



And being placed into the containment chamber.



And now for the last part of the plan, implanting this parasitic lifeform into his body.

The parasitic larvae enters the chamber and eyes its prey.

The parasitic larvae swims at an incredible speed.

The European research branch has finally has bore fruit. Mark's is overjoyed.

The test subject feels excruciating pain as the parasitic larvae worms its way into his body.

And starts to burrow.

His body is wrought with pain, so much that it should have killed him.
And gradually works its way through the test subjects system.
It enters the body through the leg.

The two organisms slowly became one.
The larvae starts the transformation process, it starts to eat the humans bones as a source of sustenance, afterwards it starts to reform the test subjects genetic makeup.

This larvae merges with the host, and is deeply rooted into every part of the human body. Usually the test subject dies during the process, but this time is a success.

The process doesn't stop there, as the organism starts to increase the subjects muscle mass to the extreme.

Nemesis, T.103
Look Boss, a new form of Tyrant.
Better than the G-Virus?
This new creation is several times more powerful than Birkin's G-Virus.
Boss, I'm not too sure about Dr. Mark's opinion.
Of course it is!

It hasn't even finished bonding yet, you can't compare it to the G-Virus.
The T-103 is a parasitic larvae that melds with the hosts, it goes into the host and spreads throughout the entire body . It provides better control and gives the host extreme strength, though the G-Virus modifies the DNA of the host instead of just controlling it. This provides a stronger subject.

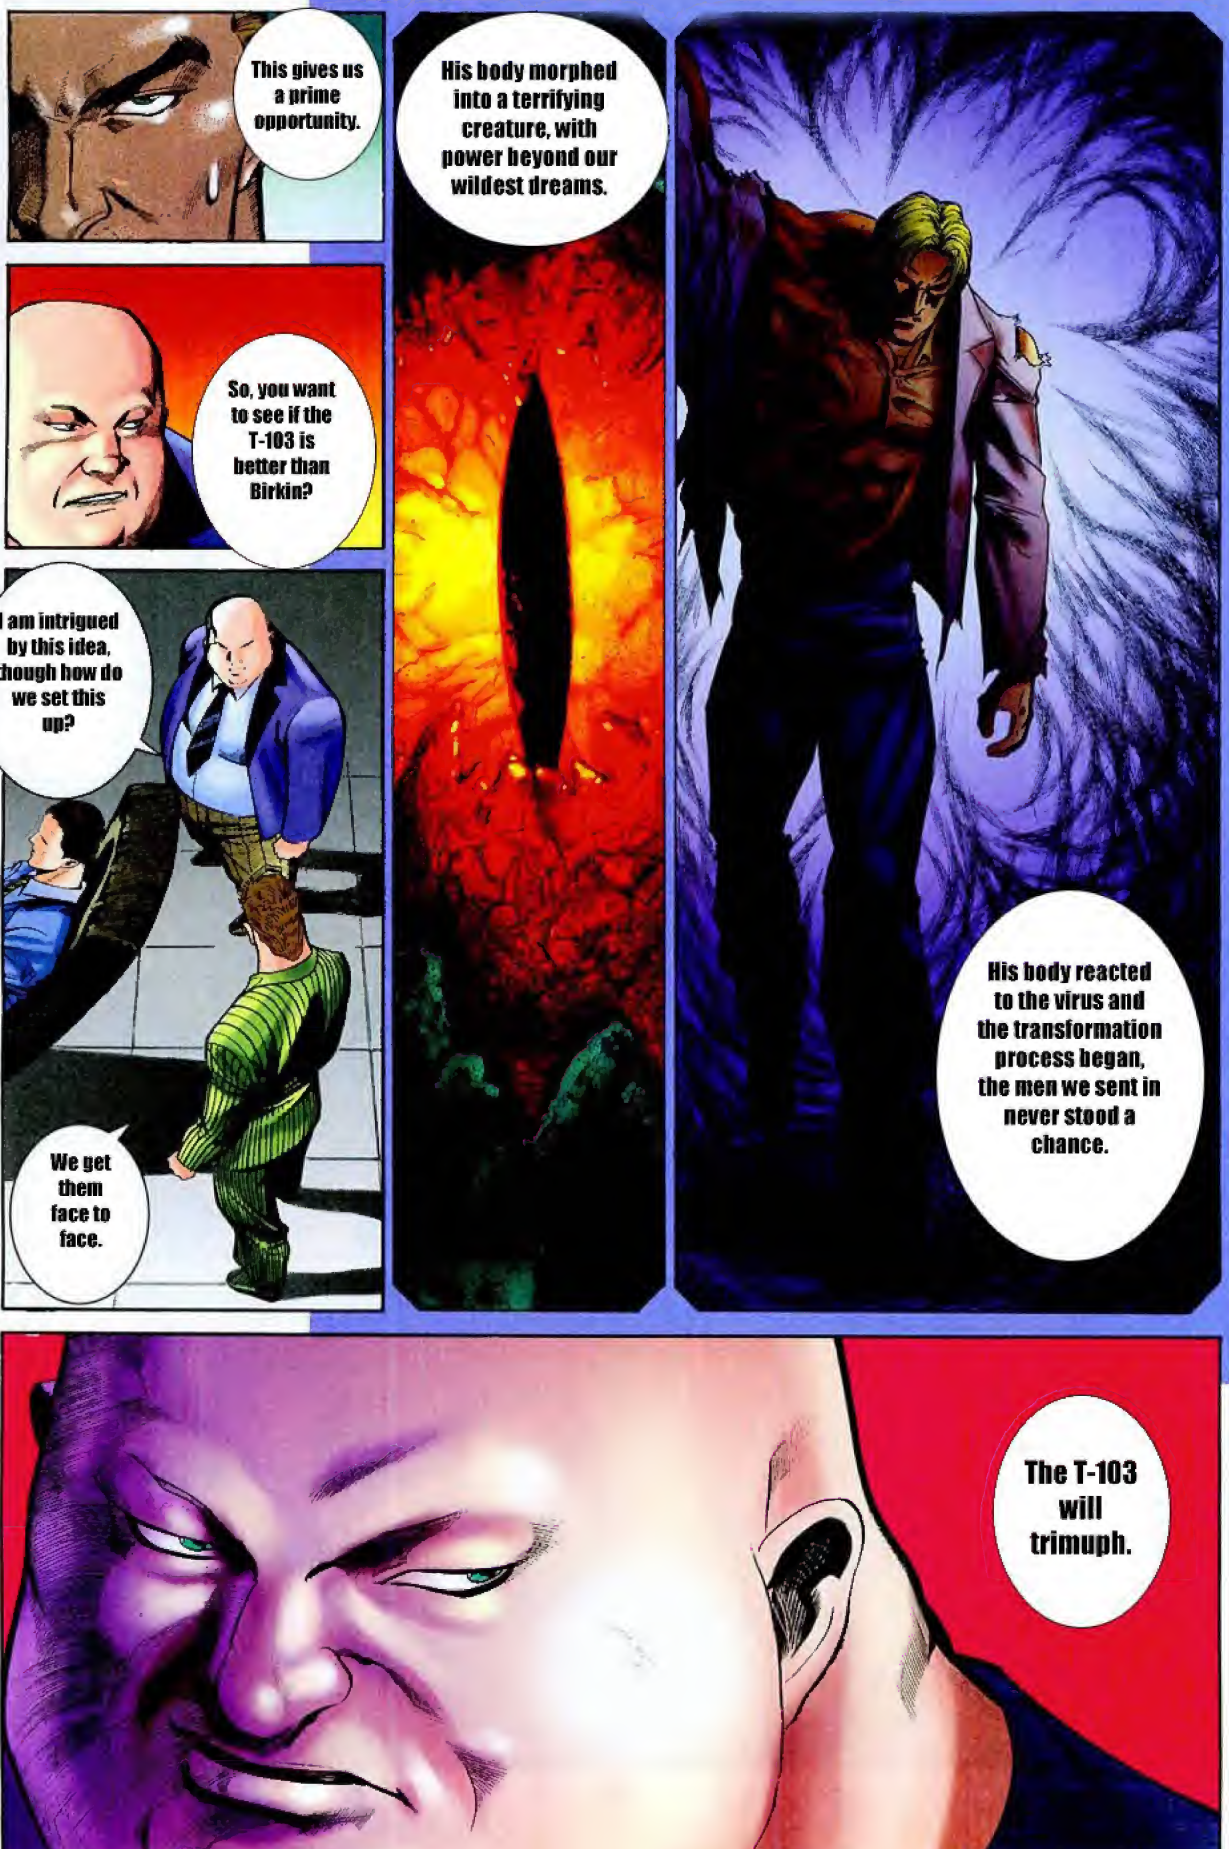
NO !!
And what happened?
Some time ago, William Birkin tried to defect to the United States Government, and Umbrella had to deal with it.
We sent in a strike force to retrieve the G-Virus, but something went wrong.
During the mission Birkin was injured and injected the G-Virus into his own body.
He became a monster.



This gives us a prime opportunity.
So, you want to see if the T-103 is better than Birkin?
I am intrigued by this idea, though how do we set this up?
We get them face to face.
His body morphed into a terrifying creature, with power beyond our wildest dreams.
His body reacted to the virus and the transformation process began, the men we sent in never stood a chance.
The T-103 will trimuph.

Though if the situation in Raccoon City isn't dealt with soon, I'm afraid that the United States government will send in the Army. This will make things difficult.
Enough, this isn't a debate!
Can't we use our lobbying power, I'm sure putting money in the right hands will make them turn their heads.
Some factions within their government will want Birkin and his research.
We need to get our hands on Birkin's research before the United States government does...
That's something the both of us can agree on, we must get the G-Virus.

And he will help us do that.
